Error Type	Total Sync Errors	Open Sync Errors	Average Days to Resolve
Currency Field Error	68	29	8.1
Duplicate Email	217	88	6.4
Lifecycle Stage Conflict	330	152	5.8
Owner Mapping Failed	186	75	6.4
Picklist Value Mismatch	79	36	6.9
Required Field Missing	300	128	5.9
Total	1,180	508	6.3

Executive takeaway: The revenue engine has meaningful volume, with 4,200 leads and $120M in open pipeline. The main operating risk is reporting trust: 1,180 sync errors, including 508 open errors, indicate Salesforce-HubSpot integration issues that could distort funnel, lifecycle, and pipeline reporting.

Lead Source	Total Leads	Total MQLs	Total SQLs	Total Opportunity Leads
Webinar	416	129	47	14
Referral	328	104	36	12
Partner	360	101	38	8

Direct	311	63	20	7
Content Download	485	96	28	11
Total	4,200	959	325	85

Lead operations takeaway: Lead volume is concentrated in Outbound, Paid Search, LinkedIn, and Content Download, while Webinar, Referral, and Partner show stronger downstream quality relative to volume. RevOps should monitor both source volume and source quality, not lead count alone.

2026 Partner Campaign 20	Partner Campaign	$334,832	25.4x	35.5%
Total		$11,511,540	29.0x	41.2%

Pipeline takeaway: The pipeline is sizable, but a 29.0% stale rate creates forecast risk. Campaign ROI is strong overall at 29.0x won revenue to budget, but the spread across campaigns suggests RevOps should monitor ROI by campaign and enforce clearer pipeline follow-up rules.

Lead	hubspot_contact_id	8.3%
Lead	account_id_matched	17.9%	1
Opportunity	next_step	28.0%	1
Total		8.8%	2

CRM health takeaway: Lifecycle-stage conflicts, required-field errors, duplicate emails, and owner-mapping failures create operational drag. The highest-risk data quality gaps are concentrated in account matching and opportunity next-step fields, which directly affect routing, attribution, forecast hygiene, and reporting confidence.
